Oyster Season to Open.

The oyster season on the Potomac will open next month, and by the latter part of the month, particularly if the weather is at all cool, the season will be in full swing. Many of the vessels now engaged in bringing watermelons to this city will stop that work and will prepare to bring cargoes of oysters here as soon as the season opens. Early in the next week several boats will leave here and Alexandria for the oyster beds on the river and will take aboard cargoes of the bivalves and will be at the ovster wharf here with their cargoes about September 1. Reports coming from the lower river state that the oysters are in fair condition, and the outlook for a fair paying season is good. The stock on many of the beds cultivated by private owners, particularly in Virginia waters, is large will command good prices in the market here. PRINTERS PROTEST

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT MASS MEETING.

Resolutions protesting against the expulsion of Shelby Smith by the International Typographical Union were adopted at a mass meeting of Washington printers late yesterday afternoon in Typographical Temple. The call for this assemblage of members of Typographical Union, No. 101, was made soon after information had reached Washington of the action taken by the international body now in session at Toronto, Canada. Local printers did not hesitate to severely criticise what was termed the hasty and illadvised action of the Toronto convention in expelling Mr. Smith, who, as stated in The Star yesterday, was a former member of Columbia Union and an employe of the government printing office.

"It would be well for our organization if we had a few more Shelby Smiths," said a prominent printer to a Star reporter. "He is a unionist, and has the welfare of trenuous the craft at heart. If such men are to be ruthlessly expelled for their intense unionism then we had better shut up shop. The recent work he has accomplished for the Philadelphia union, and we all know what t is, should result in commendation and not condemnation."

The meeting yesterday afternoon was presided over by Mr. Edgar B. Merritt, a for-mer vice president of Columbia Union, while Mr. T. M. Ring, editor of the Trades was acting secretary. Mr. Ring also drafted the resolutions, which were adopted by the meeting. Some of the speakers held that, while Smith should be disciplined for his attack on the executive council of the international union, the mode adopted was too severe. After the adoption of the resolution a telegram was sent to the Washington delegation at Toronto embodying their text and expressing the will of the mass meeting that the resolutions be presented as a protest against the expulsion of Smith from the union.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions recite that "the International Typographical Union in convention assembled at Toronto, Canada, having adopted a course in attempting to discipline a member of Philadelphia Typographical Union, No. 2, that is considered severe in its application; and we believe the best interests of the entire jurisdiction can be better served by exercising moderation tem pered with a spirit of fair play to the member in question."

It was therefore resolved that "we the members of Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, protest against the enforcement of the sentence of the convention, taken on ex findings of a committee and in a moment of haste, feeling that an injustice has been done to the member in question. "That we view the attitude of the convention in its action requiring No. 2 to carry out its mandate as inimical to the success of securing the eight-hour day in the section of the country comprising 60 per cent of the entire membership of the International Typographical Union. "That a copy of this resolution be sent to our delegates at the convention, to be recorded by them as a protest against the findings of the convention in the case referred to. Mr. Smith has a host of friends in this city, it is said, especially among the typos in the government printing office, and it was principally through the prompt action of these that the mass meeting was called.

Fined and Ordered to Pay Damage. On two charges, one of causing damage to a buggy and another of cruelty to animals, Samuel E. Henyon wa sthis morning brought into the Police Court, on the complaint of David Murphy, a liveryman of South Washington. At the conclusion of the testimony Judge O'Neal fined Henyon $10 on each charge and ordered him to pay $15 in restitution for the damage to the buggy. In default of these fines he will spend three months and a half on the farm.

In his testimony Mr. Murphy gave particulars of the alleged cruelty to animals. A woman hired the horse and buggy about 4 p.m., he said, and soon afterward the defendant got into the conveyance. About 10 o'clock the animal was driven down D street southwest at full speed, with four persons in the buggy. When the rig was turned in at 2:30 o'clock this morning, the witness stated, the wheels of the vehicle were broken and the horse gave evidence of having been overdriven, and is still unfit for service.

Repairs to Walkways.

The work of rebuilding the walkway from Reagan's boat house to the floats at which the pleasure craft are berthed has been resumed, the necessary permit from the building inspector's office having been obtained. Capt. Reagan is doing the work himself, using a home-built pile driver to sink the piles into the bottom of the dock. The new work at Reagan's will be completed tomorrow. The building of the new walkway from the foot of 9th street to the boathouse of the Capital Yacht Club, which was started a few days ago has been stop-ped, it being necessary to obtain a permit for the work from the District authorities. Work on the walkway will be resumed in a day or two.

A large sloop-rigged boat owned by Mr. Thomas Smith of this city is lying at Whyte's boatyard, at the foot of Water street, being fitted with a new cabin and having other work done that will make her a comfortable craft for summer trips on the river. The vessel, when ready for service, will have accommodations aboard for several persons, and will be one of the largest of the sailing boats of the local fleet of pleasure craft. She will be ready for service in the fall. Mr. Whyte also has the large skipjack Oneida in his boathouse, to have her freeboard raised and to have other improvements made in her.

It is stated that the receipts of lumber have been so heavy during the past ten days at this city that all the wharves are filled up with it, and that the vessels now arriving can find no place to put out their cargoes. False Alarm of Fire.

A false alarm of fire was sounded from box 536 this morning about 5:30 o'clock, summoning several companies of the fire department to the neighborhood of 4th and N streets southeast. It was reported that a colored man was seen to turn in the alarm, but he had disappeared when the policemen and firemen reached the vicinity of the box. His description was furnished the police and the latter are looking for The maximum penalty for turning in a false alarm is $40, but this amount of fine imposed upon a number of violators of law does not seem to have the desired effect. It is about the amount of the cost to the District of the fire department responding to an alarm, and, it is said, an effort is to be made to have a more severe enalty provided.

Schooner Hull Moved. The pile-driving machines which have been employed for the past two or three days in raising the hull of the old schooner that has been sunk in the upper end of the harbor for several years past succeeded in floating the old vessel yesterday, and, with it slung between the two machines, it was taken to the flats on the south side of the Eastern branch and deposited in a spot where it will branch and deposited in a spot where it will not be in the way of navigation. Except to small boats the old hulk was but little in the way as she lay in the harbor, but was a most unsightly object and in full view of the passengers on all trains to and from the south. The raising of the old schooner was done under the supervision of officials from the little of the state of the supervision of officials from the little of the state of the supervision of officials from the little of the state of the supervision of officials from the little of the supervision of officials from the supervision of officials the United States army engineers' office in this city.

FUNERAL OF THOS. LANGLEY.

Services at Gen. Harries' Residence and Interment at Glenwood.

one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the District, and the father-in-law of Gen. George H. Harries, commanding the District of Columbia National Guard, took place at 8 o'clock this afternoon from Gen. Harries' home, 401 P street northwest, Simple but impressive funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Doney of Hamline M. E. Church and Rev. Dr. Job A. Price, a retired paster of that congregation and a warm friend of the deceased. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Thomas E. Roach, Thomas H. Martin, John H. Benton and Joseph R. Quinter, representing Hamline Church, and Rudolph Eichorn and Mr. Ragan, representing the Oldest Inhabitants' Association, of which Mr. Langley was for many years a vice president. The burial was at Glenwood. Mr. Langley's death occurred at the home of Gen. Harries Thursday night after three years of failing health. He was in his eighty-fifth year and had been a continual resident of the District since his boyhood. He was a survivor of the jury which convicted Charles J. Guiteau of the assassina-tion of President Garfield and was one of the founders of Hamline M. E. Church,

CONTROVERSY ARISES.

Builder Asks to Be Released From Government Contract.

A controversy has arisen between the officers of the quartermaster's department of the army and Mr. Joseph S. Reynolds, constructor and builder, of this city, in regard to the contract for the construction of the building for bachelor officers' quarters at Fort Myer, Va. Bids for this work were recently opened by Capt. Butt, the depot quartermaster, and as Reynolds was the lowest bidder he was awarded the con-

Subsequently Reynolds asked to be released from the contract on the ground that he had made a mistake in his bid and could not undertake to do the work at the price fixed upon. The officials of the War Department are disposed to hold him to his contract, and in case he or his bondsmer will not execute it, say that the work will be done either by the government or the next lowest bidder and Reynolds charged with the difference in the cost.

After a hearing yesterday afternoon, Justice Stafford of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, took under advisement until next Thursday the habeas corpus case of Daniel O'Keefe, who claims that he is unlawfully detained at the Government Hospital for the Insane. O'Keefe enlisted in the United States army January 15, 1902 and did duty in the Philippine Islands, where he suffered a sunstroke. He was sent to the asylum for treatment as an insane person. O'Keefe contends that he is sane, and that, inasmuch as his term of enlistment in the army ended January 14 last, his further detention at the asylum is unlawful.
